KIPPRA is a public think tank with the mandate to build capacity in public policy making process in realization of the national development goals. As such, the Institute's function is to build human and institutional capacities for government and other stakeholders in strengthening evidence-based policy process.

KIPPRA's vision is an international centre of excellence in public policy making. Thus, we strive to build synergies between policy makers and academia at the national and international levels through partnerships and networks. This is expected to support our efforts in sharing perspectives on career development, emerging policy issues and guiding in identifying relevant research to support the development agenda.

The KIPPRA Mentorship Programme for Universities (KMPUs) is designed to encourage and promote the next generation of leaders with successful career in their fields. KMPUs distinct feature is harnessing the link between academia and public policy making for purposes of promoting national development.

The overall objective of the KMPUs programme, is therefore to create awareness and develop capacity of the University Community in understanding the public policy making process. More specifically the programme will:

- Enlighten the University Community on public policy the government is implementing in pursuit of the development agenda.
